Estimate 45,000 Shock Troops Hurling Into Big Drive

U. S. COUNTER-ATTACK
Thousands of Casualties Are Inflicted On The Invaders

(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)
TOKYO, July 28—Nine Communist divisions supported by tanks and heavy artillery pressed an all-out offensive along a 200-mile front tonight in a vast effort to score a quick breakthrough against U. S. and South Korean troops defending Korea's southeast corner.

At least 45,000 shock troops out of an estimated 67,500 North Korean soldiers in the front lines were hurled into the giant multi-pronged drive attempting to crash through major mountain passes and burst out on the plain rolling down to the vital port of Pusan.

American troops in the center of the tempestuous front promptly counter-attacked in an effort to cut down the momentum of the enemy's main push. Thousands of casualties were inflicted on the Communist invaders as the Korean war's biggest battle erupted all along the curving front.

A spokesman at Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters, announcing the opening of the big Red offensive, declared late Friday that because of the North Koreans' critical supply problem "the enemy seeks a decision."

He said: "The next few days from the enemy viewpoint are the most important. The enemy seeks a decision and would do anything for a breakthrough at this time."

MacArthur's spokesman announced that the Communist pressure is "at a maximum" along all fronts of the battle perimeter that curves from Korea's east coast across the peninsula to its southern rim.

He said that "as many as nine enemy divisions are in contact with American and Republic of Korea forces."

Of these nine North Korean divisions, the spokesman said, "at least" 45,000 tanked combat troops have been hurled into the huge onslaught, with the remainder held in the immediate rear to augment the Continued on Page Four

ZINC MILL CHIMNEYS LEVELED BY A BLAST

Ancient Landmarks In Vicinity of Friedensville, Bucks County

PRECAUTIONS TAKEN

FRIEDENSVILLE, July 28—No longer will two ancient landmarks in this part of upper Bucks County be seen by the eyes of passersby.

The landmarks were smokestacks of what years ago was a prosperous zinc mining industry. A blast this week left only a shell of the industry. With that blast came down twin smokestacks that had been erected on the top of a substantial stone building. These stacks, which originally towered 250 feet above the building, were razed as a precautionary measure. The tops of these stacks could be seen from points many miles from the mines.

Located along the Old Philadelphia road, at that time a main thoroughfare, the building on which the stacks were built stood on a solid masonry foundation. This building, a large part of which is covered with ivy, at one time housed a pumping engine, which at that time was considered the largest of its kind. This was used to drain water from the mines.

Built about 1872, the pump was given the name, "The President," after Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, then President of the United States. The apparatus, built by a firm in Reading, was transported part by part over the mountains on wagons drawn by mule teams. Between 300 and 400 laborers were employed to build the large quarters for the engine, which pumped some 60,000 Continued on Page Three

"Safe As You Think" Title Of Film Shown Rotarians

Local Rotarians enjoyed a moving picture titled "Safe As You Think," when they met at the Elks' Home yesterday afternoon.

The film, which was in sound, stressed the fact that accidents can be prevented, and that carelessness and indifference to the fundamental rules of safety are the chief causes of most accidents. The film was prepared in the interest of safety by General Motors Corp.

The story of the film unfolded to prove that the success of any safety campaign depends on every individual, since no one else can be safe for you. The story of the movie concluded by stressing that continuous education to prove that accidents do not just happen is the ultimate answer to accident prevention.

Guests were present at the meeting from Burlington, Doylestown, Morrisville and Dearborn, Michigan, with president Raymond J. Sobatzki in charge.

Turning out a cigarette lighter with a wick that never burns out and a firing wheel that can give 600,000 sparks without a sign of wear is routine business for the Drum Co., Inc., which operates its plant on the Hunter grounds in Emile.

The Drum "Streamliners" have lit cigarettes in places all over the United States and in as many as ten different foreign countries since they first started coming off the production line in 1945.

The plant, under the direction of President Harry Miller, employs a band of 20 men and women specialists who usually produce 2000 "Streamliners" a day, but who can turn out 5000 if they have to.

To make one of these portable torches 63 separate and precision operations must be carried out. A dozen pressing, molding and grinding jobs are performed on carefully set dies before the brass inner and outer cases are shaped. Tolerances of 2/1000 of an inch are followed before the cases are considered finished.

The inside mechanism is produced with more clock-like precision. The spring mechanism, which presses the flint up against the firing wheel is made as a single unit, so that any removal of the spring doesn't mean five or six scattered parts jumping out on the floor.

The openings where the wind breaker is fitted into the case are soldered to prevent the fluid case from having leaks or evaporation outlets, thus giving the lighter a long-life fuel supply. The entire lighter is welded together, nuts and screws having no place in its construction.

A series of vigorous baths are needed to prepare the lighter cases for the plating of metal which gives them their shiny exterior covering.

Electrolytic baths are used to remove all traces of dirt or smudge after the cases receive a preliminary buffing. Water rinses, more baths in five different acids, and still more water are used before the plating can be done. Any trace of foreign matter would spoil the plating job, so the scrupulous cleanliness is more than routine—it involves costly metals that cannot be readily reclaimed.

The electrolysis process dissolves the plating metals and deposits them on the lighter cases which are hung on racks in the plating tubs. Continued on Page Three

GIRL REPORTS HOLD-UP AND ROBBERY OF $1.12

A 14-year-old girl was held-up and robbed of a wallet containing $1.12 on Wednesday afternoon, according to a report made to Chief of Bristol Township Police, Joseph Seader.

The victim was May Keena, of Newportville Road and Elm ave., Fergusonville.

The child was sent to a store on Bristol Pike, Croydon, according to Seader. She was riding her bicycle and as she rode along the Newport road, she noticed a black coupe parked where youths swim and she says that someone whistled at her.

Enroute back from the store the car passed her and pulling up along the side of the road a distance away stopped. The girl was frightened by the incident and returned to the home of Seader, nearby, but not seeing the police car, started again to walk to her home. She then sat down at the intersection of Newportville and Newport roads.

Then as she started again along the road the car approached her and according to the girl's report, a man leaned out of the car and had a gun in his hand and demanded her wallet. She gave it to him. It was about 2:30 Wednesday afternoon.

Turks for Korea

ASSIGNMENT OF Turkish troops to the United Nations army fighting Korean Reds will be arranged by Selim Sarper, delegate from Turkey, upon his return to Lake Success, N. Y. The offer of 4,500 combat soldiers for the Korean war theatre was telegraphed by the Ankara government to Secretary General Trygve Lie. (International)

While stationed at the eastern end of the Mediterranean Miss Cassile taught English, mathematics and religion in a girls' high school conducted by the mission in Aleppo, a city of about 350,000 situated near the Turkish border on the north.

There were about 240 girls in the high school, Miss Cassile says, and more children were in the elementary and preparatory sections.

The young missionary worker says that the high school girls are pretty much like American girls in dress and manners.

"They aren't as free to travel about alone, though," Miss Cassile added. "Their families restrict most of their activities, and the girls aren't allowed out at night unless a member of the family goes with them," she states.

English or French is spoken by a majority of the educated Syrians, according to Miss Cassile, although most of the rural villagers are illiterate. The main occupation for the country people is farming, while the cities have their share of shops and industries.

The other members of the approximately 70 persons in the mission who do not teach in the schools are engaged in conducting two hospitals, turning out various publications or doing work among the villagers.

During her stay in Syria the Croydon woman traveled about the entire country. Travel in buses or public cars was slow, but otherwise good, she says.

The Eddington Presbyterian church is the main sponsor of Miss Cassile's work in the Middle East. The entire mission is under the direction of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, whose headquarters are in New York city.

Most of the funds for the support of the mission comes from the church bodies, Miss Cassile says, although some is obtained from tuition and fees at the schools.

During her one-year stay in this country Miss Cassile will go to either Cornell University in New York or to the University of Duquesne in Iowa to prepare for further work among the rural natives of the Middle East. She received her first degree from Maryville College in Tennessee.

The Cassile family has lived in Croydon for 31 years.

REPORTS MIXTURE OF RACES LIVE IN HARMONY IN SYRIA

Miss Helen Cassile Returns To Croydon; 5 Years in Mission Field

WAS TEACHING IN H. S.

The Eddington Presbyterian Church is Main Sponsor Of Her Work

CROYDON, July 28—The jumbled mixture of races and religions that have come together in Syria live side by side with surprisingly little friction, reports Miss Helen Cassile, who returned home Wednesday after spending five years in the Middle East doing missionary work.

Miss Cassile, daughter of Mrs. Lorena C. Cassile, 948 Excelsior avenue, says that Christians, Jews and Moslems of Greek, Armenian and Arabic decent work and go to school together paying little attention to their differences.

"I guess this only goes to prove that human nature is basically the same the world over," Miss Cassile says.

The only period of tension that Miss Cassile noticed was when the British left Palestine late in 1945, leaving the Jews and Arabs alone to settle their own problems. She was in Palestine at that time studying before being sent to Syria to begin missionary work.

While stationed at the eastern end of the Mediterranean Miss Cassile taught English, mathematics and religion in a girls' high school conducted by the mission in Aleppo, a city of about 350,000 situated near the Turkish border on the north.

FRIDAY, JULY 28, 1950
TIME TO BECOME SMART
News that General Motors is gearing up to mass produce a "really good" medium tank may be regarded as official admission of a fact already known: That some U. S. weapons aren't pulling their weight in Korea. Fortunately, this criticism cannot be applied to all of them.
The lessons learned in Korea can be used in any future situation where U. S. — oops! United Nations—troops may meet other Soviet-trained troops. The primary lesson is that the U. S. cannot hope to match Russia or its satellites man for man. The massive war machine the Soviets maintain at home, or wherever their puppets hold sway, poses a disadvantage to this country.
Nor can America match them volumewise in some weapon categories. The reds are reported to have a pool of 40,000 tanks. Many of these are obsolete, but what does that matter when red tanks face troops without tanks?
If this country cannot match them quantitatively, it will be necessary to do it qualitatively. From the beginning it was clear that World War II anti-tank weapons and tanks which were available for U. S. forces in Korea were not good enough. The American position in Korea has degenerated into its present state largely because of them.
In the air and afloat the picture has been the opposite. U. S. "Mustangs" and jets have been the match of any planes the Korean reds could put in the air. Post-war Russian planes have not put in an appearance in any great numbers. Should this picture change, the air support picture may not be as rosy.
On the seas U. S. combat ships with some assistance from British and Australian vessels, have had a field day. This, too, could change should Russia decide to commit any of her considerable fleet of North Pacific-based submarines.
On the ground there is heartening news that the new 3.5 inch rockets and big bazookas are making it rougher for enemy tanks. New tanks now en route to the Asiatic theater should go further toward balancing the war on the ground.
But the "new" weapons the country has been told about will not be at the front in force for some time. It has cost the nation dearly, in terms of lives and lost equipment, to learn what is now known. It is time the country smartened up to its deficiencies and did something about them.
This is a push-button war, all right, but the question now is how many millions of young Americans will be needed to push the buttons.

It was Louie Johnson who said we could end any war by 4 a. m. of the day after it started. Either this isn't war, or Johnson is off schedule.
Add Ho, Hum items: Queen Elizabeth of England is accused of wearing clothes that are frumpy and in poor taste.

2ND WARD, WITH PINELLI TWIRLING, BLANKS 5TH WARD

"Ernie" Pinelli, Second Ward A. C. twirler, shut out the Fifth Ward Sporting Club last evening in a Bristol Suburban Softball League game on Memorial Park field. It was the eleventh straight win for the Second Ward team and also the sixth consecutive mound win for Pinelli, who is unbeaten. Final score was 5-0.

Pinelli gave the losers five hits and kept them well apart. Only in the second and third innings did the Fifth Ward team manage to get more than one runner on base. Pinelli also had good control and was backed by errorless support.

"Pete" Volpe started on the hill for the losing team. He was replaced by Henry Liberatore in the third after a streak of wildness. Volpe passed four batters in this canto and Liberatore followed with another walk to give Fifth Ward a pair of easy runs.

"Mike" Perrone and "Sammy" Sottile had the only extra base hits of the game, a single and double, respectively. "Jim" Sottile made two of the winners' five hits.

Gold, silver, copper, nickel and chrome can be plated onto the lighters. Most of the plating is done with alloys, for metals like pure gold or silver are too soft to withstand constant use. Nickel is usually added to chrome to reduce the porosity of the metal. The company has also done plating work for other firms, including the difficult task of plating on aluminum. After the plating operation comes more washings, and then the cases are ready to be buffed to a flawless brilliance. The Drum Co. maintains its own engraving department which can produce exceptional designs on the lighter cases. Many companies contract to have their names or in-

Most families find it wise to operate within a definite budget suitable to their circumstances. We feel the same principle should guide them in the selection of a funeral service. Dignity and beauty do not depend on a lavish display, and true grief is often best portrayed by simplicity.

Zinc Mill Chimneys Leveled By A Blast

gallons of water per hour. Most productive mines in operation were on the Correll, Hartman and Ueberroth properties. A group of smaller and privately owned mines were also active. There families extracted the ore, and received payment for it on a commission basis. The deepest workings were at a depth of about 225 feet. Generally the ore was removed from open pits. As mining went deeper into the ore body, the sulphide ore became the major part. Because the same smelting process was not applicable to the oxide and sulphide ores, they were mined separately. Deepening of the mines increased the underwater problem, and the introduction of the pumping engine solved the problem.

The engine made it possible to drain wells on farms as far as Limeport, about four and one-half miles from the mines. At one time water from the Saucon creek, about a mile away from the mines, made its way to the pits. The opening was finally sealed with the use of smelter refuse. The panic in 1873 and the expense of operating the mines finally led to the closing of them in 1876.

Wives and Children Are The Guests of Lions At A Picnic

PIPERSVILLE, July 28—Their wives and children were guests of Plumstead Lions Club members at a picnic on Tuesday evening, the group gathered at Myers' dam, near here. One hundred enjoyed the event, which Philip Maddux directed. Mr. Maddux is the newly-elected president.

A picnic supper was followed by a program of sports in charge of George Shaddinger, and several quill matches, which were won by Robert Schumacher, Plumsteadville, and Richard Myers, of this place.

Leonard Myers spoke informally of his trip to Chicago, Ill., last week to attend the convention of Lions International.

The next meeting will be held on August 5th.

By Rev. Charles E. Finch
Pastor
Church of Redeemer, Andalusia

Pour out, we beseech thee, O Lord, thy Spirit upon thy Church, that to all its members may come new visions, new life, new fellowship with Christ, its living Head. Send us out, if thou wilt, and through us send out many another to work for the extension of thy Kingdom throughout the world. Open our hearts that we may receive thy power; open our eyes that we may see Christ with hands outstretched to bless. Do with us what thou wilt and as thou wilt. So shall the earth be filled with the knowledge of thyself as the waters cover the sea. And to thee be the praise and glory, now and forevermore. Amen.

SPORTSMEN'S BRIEFS

By JOE ELBERSON

Big shoot . . . the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association has completed arrangements for another big bluerock shoot over the club traps, located just north of New US Route 13, west of Bath Road at Silver Lake. The program will consist of 50 sixteen-yard targets.

Targets and purse is $4.50, with $2.00 from each entry to form the purse, divided Lewis Class, 50-30-20% each class, with not more than 3 classes. Entry in the Lewis Class (purse money) is optional, however, and there will be some practice shooting during the afternoon.

The program, which is open to all shooters, will get underway at 12 noon, July 30.

Coloring up . . . from greased lightning fluff balls to nearly mature game birds is one way to describe the phenomenal growth in less than two months of the day-old pheasant chicks being raised by George Bluff, Sr., Edgely avenue, Edgely, for the Bristol and Edgely Clubs. The cock birds are already taking on their varicolored hues and in a matter of another month the approximately 200 birds will be released for future sport of local hunters. The cordial invitation to stop by the pens and inspect these pheasants still stands.

Still producing . . . Maple Beach, according to all reports, is still the "No. One Spot" for local bass fishermen, with many nice-sized largemouths recorded there in the last 10 days.

Season ends . . . next Monday, July 31, marks the end of the 1950 trout season in Pennsylvania. It has, generally speaking, been a good season, with the largest entry ever recorded entered in the Bristol club's contest, a 19½-inch brown trout, caught by Don Moyer.

First this year . . . after three tries on the upper Delaware this season for smallmouth bass we finally connected last Sunday. Took five bass in a matter of less than an hour at Pond Eddy, Pennsylvania. The river was in excellent condition when Frank Everett, Harry Bossler and I arrived in the Poconos last Saturday.

Casting tournament . . . plan now to be on hand for the third annual casting tournament sponsored by the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association. It will be held Sunday, August 6, at Memorial Park, east of Jefferson avenue, between Mansion and Garden streets, beginning at 12 noon. There will be divisions and sections for all types of casters, and many, many fine prizes for the winners. It is expected that the contest, which is an annual affair, will draw participants from as many as five nearby states. Full details will be published in this space next Friday.

Casualties lighter . . . field reports indicate that there were far less hen pheasants crippled or killed by mowers and fewer clutches of eggs left unhatched this year than is usually the case.

The reason is that wet spring weather retarded crops, therefore pheasants had sufficient time to hatch their eggs and escape with their broods before the arrival of the mower.

Food plentiful . . . experience and knowledge qualify Game Protector Theodore Carlson, Clearfield, to speak on conditions affecting wildlife. His 1950 game food observations are typical of those recently received from numerous game officers over the Commonwealth.

Carlson says: "From present indications all types of food-bearing trees and shrubs will carry a heavy crop this late summer and fall. The beechnut and black cherry, the top food-bearers in this area, are heavy with nuts and cherries. Blackberries and wild apples—old standbys—are producing heavily and at the present time there is a very heavy crop of Juneberries and the red-berried elder. Wild grapes are producing an excellent crop and it is evident that wildlife will enjoy a bountiful harvest of nourishing food."

A Great Beauty—A Great Car!

All great beauties have one thing in common—the ability to stand strikingly apart from the crowd, to be instantly recognizable as something very special.

Certainly Pontiac has that distinction to a rare degree. Wherever you go, you see the new Pontiac, you are sharply aware that this one car asserts itself in any company. And yet, beautiful as Pontiac is, it has inner qualities which are even more desirable. Pontiac is built, from the bottom up, to be thoroughly good, to be an outstanding performer, a dependable, economical, completely satisfying car.

Yes, almost everybody knows that Pontiac is a great beauty. But only Pontiac owners really know that it's a great car in every way. You should be a Pontiac owner—dollar for dollar, you can't beat a Pontiac!
